how can one become a successful artist where should one start a career in the art world what are useful strategies to achieve recognition in the art system such questions hoard in students minds ever since entering art school and they probably chase every kind of art professional who is at an early career stage the road to parnassus tries to understand what makes a good start in today s art world who are influential players in the field and which strategies might apply the swift career ascension of glasgow artist douglas gordon one of today s leading visual artists and of the broader yba generation that rose into worldwide prominence in the 1990s damien hirst and sarah lucas among the best known serves as a convenient case to analyse contemporary artist strategies this book takes a multidisciplinary approach spanning from traditional art history to sociology and economics pursuing the reconstruction of the field of forces in art as intended by french sociologist pierre bourdieu compared to previous publications on art system dynamics such as thompson s the 12 million stuffed shark this book offers an enhanced understanding of the factors that allow a young artist to enter the arena of contemporary art the present research should help uncover the art system logic which appears enigmatic to non experts revealing that artists are aware they need to consider global trends beat competitors and meet the demands of dealers collectors curators and museums this book furthers existing contributions on the ybas for example stallabross high art lite offering innovative conclusions on recent british art such as on the duality between london and glasgow the gender opposition among emerging artists and the predominance of resourceful authors this book brings the emerging fields of practical theology and theology of the arts into a dialogue beyond the bias of modern systematic and constructive theology the authors draw upon postmodern post secular feminist liberation and dialogical dialectical philosophy and theology and their critiques of the narrow modern emphases on reason and the scientific method as the model for all knowledge such a practical theology of the arts focuses the work of theology on the actual practices that engage the arts in their various forms as the means of interpreting and understanding the nature of the communities and their members as well as the mechanisms through which these communities engage in transformative work to make persons and neighborhoods whole this book presents its theological claims through the careful analysis of several stories of communities around the world that have engaged in transformational practices through a specific art form investigating communities from europe the middle east south america and the u s the case studies explored include jewish christian muslim druze indigenous and sometimes agnostic subjects involved in visual art music dance theatre documentary film and literature theology and the arts demonstrates that the challenges of a postmodern and post secular context require a fundamental rethinking of theology that focuses on discrete practices of faithful communities rather than one dimensional theories about religion in creative visions sociologist hannah wohl draws on more than one hundred interviews and two years of ethnographic research in the new york contemporary art market developing a sociological perspective on creativity through the analytic lens of judgment the artists she encountered range from those trying to land their first solo exhibition to those with several dozens of museum exhibitions she visited their studios and saw firsthand how they decided which works to leave unfinished or to destroy put into storage or exhibit she observed the installation of exhibitions in galleries assisted in selling artwork for a gallery and followed private collectors around art fairs and vip collector events moments of judgment whether by artists curators dealers or buyers led her to uncover that artistic practices are deeply sociological both because artists decisions are informed by their interactions with others and because artists decisions about their work affect the objects which circulate through the social world artists recognize that exhibitors and collectors prefer artists whom they deem to display a clear signature style wohl also explores judgment in art as part of the creative process evaluation she says is both a way that one judges how good a work is and how one makes decisions about producing work our understanding of creative work rests on these highly social dynamics wohl shows shedding new light on the production of cultural objects and prestige the awakening artist madness and spiritual awakening in art is an art theory book that explores the collision of human madness and spiritual awakening in art it examines a condition of insanity that can be seen in most art movements throughout art history and contrasts that insanity with revelations of beauty wonder and truth that can also be found in many works of art the awakening artist references concepts of creativity put forward by joseph campbell carl sagan albert einstein carl jung and others furthermore the awakening artist discusses many of the world s most important artists who explored the theme of awakening in art including michaelangelo paul cezanne claude monet marcel duchamp morris graves and many others additionally using concepts of eastern philosophy the book presents the case that human creativity originates from the same creative source that animates all of life and that the artist naturally aligns with that creative source when he or she is in the act of creating the creative collaborations of engineers artists scientists and curators over the past fifty years artwork as opposed to experiment engineer versus artist we often see two different cultural realms separated by impervious walls but some fifty years ago the borders between technology and art began to be breached in this book w patrick mccray shows how in this era artists eagerly collaborated with engineers and scientists to explore new technologies and create visually and sonically compelling multimedia works this art emerged from corporate laboratories artists studios publishing houses art galleries and university campuses many of the biggest stars of the art world robert rauschenberg yvonne rainer andy warhol carolee schneemann and john cage participated but the technologists who contributed essential expertise and aesthetic input often went unrecognized the women who shaped modern art in britain tells the stories of determined women like helen sutherland margaret gardiner myfanwy piper and others who helped to change the course of british art in the middle of the last century whether as friends supporters collectors curators or galleristes they played a central role in determining the emergence of artists such as barbara hepworth piet mondrian alfred wallis christopher wood and francis bacon 0hitherto overshadowed by their male counterparts it was their vigour and passion that set london on course as an art metropolis the equal of paris and new york in the 1940s 60s in this fascinating look at the creative power of institutions jonah siegel explores the rise of the modern idea of the artist in the nineteenth century a period that also witnessed the emergence of the museum and the professional critic treating these developments as interrelated he analyzes both visual material and literary texts to portray a culture in which art came to be thought of in powerful new ways ultimately siegel shows that artistic controversies commonly associated with the self consciously radical movements of modernism and postmodernism have their roots in a dynamic era unfairly characterized as staid self satisfied and stable the nineteenth century has been called the age of the museum and yet critics art theorists and poets during this period grappled with the question of whether the proliferation of museums might lead to the death of art itself did the assembly and display of works of art help the viewer to understand them or did it numb the senses how was the contemporary artist to respond to the vast storehouses of art from disparate nations and periods that came to proliferate in this era siegel presents a lively discussion of the shock experienced by neoclassical artists troubled by remains of antiquity that were trivial or even obscene as well as the anxious aesthetic reveries of nineteenth century art lovers overwhelmed by the quantity of objects quickly crowding museums and exhibition halls in so doing he illuminates the fruitful crises provoked when the longing for admired art is suddenly satisfied drawing upon neoclassical art and theory biographies of early nineteenth century writers including keats and scott and the writings of art critics such as hazlitt ruskin and wilde this book reproduces a cultural matrix that brings to life the artistic passions and anxieties of an entire era
